Democratic Control In House Assured by 2 Seat Majority

Expect Farmer-Laborite to Side With Them in Congress

GARNER IS SPEAKER

Five Lawmakers Elected Tuesday Opponents of Prohibition Law

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The democratic push begun last November attained greater proportions in Tuesday's elections to virtually shove the party into control of the next house of representatives and reclaim the governorship of New Jersey.

The revolt of New Jersey in Michigan, abandoning republicanism for the first time since 1898, gave the democrats a house majority of one and with it the best chance for control in 13 years.

Both there and in the New Jersey gubernatorial race, the democratic candidates went to the polls in search of a rebuke to the national republican administration.

Another strategic position, the first Ohio congressional district, represented so long by the late Nicholas Longworth, remained in the republican column by a substantial vote after a campaign fought on local issues.

In New York, where the controversy of Governor Franklin Roosevelt and the former governor and presidential nominee, Al Smith, attracted nationwide interest because of the personalities involved, the former won a sweeping victory. The dispute centered upon a Roosevelt sponsored amendment to the state constitution providing for public reforestation.

Wets Win Again

Over the elections hung the omnipresent shadow of prohibition, and to the opposition, went the fruits.

Each of the five new congressmen, elected in the day's voting, came from democratic and two republican travel under the standard of either the repealists or the prohibitionists. In three years, the wet bloc in the house has grown from less than 70 members to about 110 now.

Unless the congressional situation changes again in the short time between now and the first Monday in December, when matters start on Capitol Hill, it practically assures that President Hoover will have during the remainder of his term a politically hostile house.

Also, it foreshadows the election as speaker of Representative Garner of Texas, and designation of Southern democrats to chairmanships of many powerful committees.

Turnover of the organization as the same time would give the democrats benefit of the tradition they have quoted so often, that a shift of power

'Help Wanted' Ad Runs in Poplar Bluff Paper

POPULAR BLUFF, Mo.—(AP)—While other sections of the country are bewailing the lack of jobs, a "help wanted" advertisement has been running for several days in the Poplar Bluff American-Republic.

At the local offices of the company it is said some 1,000 men now are employed directly or indirectly in Butler and several other counties.

Former Official Shot In Quarrel Over Election

Republican Worker Wounds Democratic Leader in Kentucky

BOWLING GREEN, Ky.—(AP)—Henry H. Denhardt, former lieutenant governor was shot and wounded Thursday in the first serious clash of Kentucky's heated state wide contest.

Five shots were fired at the democratic leader on a down town street by W. K. Dent, a republican worker, on one bullet taking effect, penetrating his lung.

Dent surrendered. He said that Denhardt, who was a former adjutant of the Kentucky National Guard, made a motion toward his hip pocket when he fired.

Election cards in Dent's pocket saved him from a bullet wound Tuesday and he said he feared he would be shot.

He obtained a peace warrant for Denhardt Wednesday but it had not been served.

$200,000 Loss in Fire at Compress

Steele (Mo.) Officers Suspect Incendiarism in Blaze

BLYTEVILLE—Less than 24 hours after Federal Judge Charles B. Faris of Cape Girardeau, Mo., had appointed a receiver pending the outcome of litigation over its ownership and control, the Steele (Mo.) Compress plant, was destroyed by fire early Wednesday. Destroying 3,300 bales of cotton, nine box cars and the entire compress plant, the flames raged unchecked for several hours, causing damage of approximately $200,000.

The mystery of how the fire started still was unsolved Wednesday night, although it was hinted that Steele officers suspected incendiarism.

Joe Robinson, an aged night patrolman at the plant, turned in the alarm. He reported that he has surprised a negro in the building just as the fire broke out, and that he shot at the negro twice when he attempted to run. Rapid spread of the flames prevented him from following the negro, he said. Officers were unable to find clues to support his story.

Control of the compress has been the object of a court fight between C. C. Hanson of Memphis and N. W. Helm of Caruthersville for nearly two years. The receiver, J. H. McFarland, was to have operated the property pending settlement of a suit brought by Hanson in federal court asking nearly $40,000 against Helm in behalf of the compress company, and for recognition of his own stock ownership in the company, which he contended had been refused by Helm.

Hanson charged that Helm sought to gain full control of the Steele compress and to "destroy the Steele compress as a competitor of the Southwest Missouri Compress Company" in which Helm also was interested.

Cattle Thieves at Work in Arkansas

State and Federal Officers Have Been Asked to Aid Stockmen

HARRISON, Ark.—(AP)—Cattle rustling in parts of northwest Arkansas has reached such proportions that stockmen and state officers have asked aid of federal authorities.

Federal authorities have been asked to aid by tightening up on the restrictions against interstate shipments of stock without proper inspection certificates, and to station inspectors at the state line on highways leading to Missouri.

Under federal law, shipment of cattle across the line, except for immediate slaughter, is prohibited until the shipper first obtain a certificate showing the cattle to be free of disease.

The inspection law, state officers say, never has been rigidly enforced in this section, particularly when cattle are shipped by truck, and this laxity, the officers aver, lends assistance in the transportation of stolen cattle.

In many instances, officers believe, rustlers in Arkansas have been aided by confederates in Missouri who meet Arkansas trucks just across the Missouri line and transport cattle to Springfield or Joplin markets.

In such cases, the cattle being relieved by Missouri trucks, no federal inspection certificates are required.

Morrilton Election Believed Illegal

No Poll Tax Required in City Primary; 843 Votes Cast

MORRILTON—The largest vote in the history of Morrilton, 843, was cast Wednesday in the city primary, caused largely by an agreement by candidates that no poll tax receipts would be required. It was estimated Thursday morning that 250 illegal votes were cast, but no contest is looked for, although many Democrats claim the election is illegal and should be thrown out.

O. J. Olson was re-elected mayor by a large majority over Dr. J. M. Matthews and J. G. Moore. Sam Moses was defeated for re-election for marshal by T. R. Wells, formerly city marshal for more than 30 years. The third candidate was Frank Reid. City collector's office, was created this year, was won by A. V. Ormond over E. H. Sellers and R. W. Morgan. E. A. Williams won over M. H. Dean for city attorney. Otto Alger for city treasurer and Earle Haynes, city recorder, was unopposed, as were two aldermen and one committeeman from each of the four wards.

NANKING, China.—(AP)—United States Consul General Peck was advised Thursday that J. W. Vinson, American missionary, was killed by bandits who captured him Sunday near Haichow, Kiagsu province.

Presumably Vinson was killed Wednesday, as Morgan's telegram was delayed in transmission from Haichow.

Transportation From El Dorado to New Orleans to Be Started

EL DORADO—Barge lines transporting oil from the Urbana field to New Orleans will be put into operation on the Ouachita river December 1, according to S. E. Wilson of the Wilson & Chapman Oil Company which has purchased the Southport Refining and Export Company's 6,000-barrel refinery in New Orleans.

Mr. Wilson said three barges, capable of moving from 12,000 to 20,000 barrels a trip, and the steamboat Sewanee have been chartered. A round trip will require nine to 11 days.

The old river port of Wilmington, 20 miles northeast of El Dorado, has been leased by Wilson and Chapman. A pipe line, seven miles long, from the Urbana field to Wilmington, and a 10,000-barrel storage tank will be built immediately. The barges will move from Wilmington, down the Ouachita into the Black river, then into the Mississippi river and to New Orleans.

Former Bentonville Boy Draws Cartoon

George Clark, Author of 'Side Glances' for NEA and The Star

"Side Glances," one of the new cartoons that started this week on The Star's daily comic page, is drawn by a young man who used to live in Bentonville, Ark.

He is George Clark. You see his name down in one corner of every drawing—and his crayon sketches are among the finest ever produced for American newspapers. He gets a curious grained effect by using crayons on pebbled paper. The resultant drawing is soft and subdued, fitting excellently into the pungent, subtle humor which he specializes in.

Parnell in Charge of Cotton Parley

Bilbo Leaves Details of Jackson Conference to Arkansas Governor

JACKSON, Miss.—(AP)—Gov. Harvey Parnell of Arkansas is in charge of details connected with the meeting of governors and legislative committees of cotton growing states to time for the conference. Practically all of the Southern states will be represented at the meeting, Governor Bilbo announced Wednesday night.

With Governor Parnell earlier this week Governor Bilbo called the governors and legislative committees of other Southern states to come to Jackson "at an undecided but immediate date" to confer on uniform cotton legislation.

November 20 was first set for the meeting, but late Wednesday Governor Parnell telephoned Governor Bilbo and November 23 was fixed as the time for the conference. Practically every Southern state will be represented at the meeting, Governor Bilbo said.

There will be no arbitrary plan laid down at the conference, he said, and the governors and lawmakers will "sit at a table and talk things over."

Both Arkansas and Mississippi, in their recent special legislative sessions, passed resolutions providing for conference committees to meet with similar committees of other states on cotton legislation.

The Mississippi committee has not been named, although Lieut. Gov. Bidwell Adam said he would appoint Senator W. B. Roberts, author of the cotton reduction law, as one member.

One outstanding thing that greatly added to the enthusiasm of the 22 members present was A. C. Monts' donation of a complete Encyclopedia Britannica as a nucleus for the library.

It was decided that the organization would sponsor a box and pie supper for next Friday evening, November 6. Everyone has a special invitation to come and bring a box, pie, or full pocketbook. The funds are to be used to purchase shades for the building.

All are looking forward to a large increase in membership and a very successful year for the association.

Pharr Asks More Flood Control Aid

Arkansas Rail Taxes, Held Up by Litigation, Delay Levee Assessments

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(AP)—Harry Pharr, chief engineer of the St. Francis Levee Board at West Memphis, Ark., asked the Mississippi River Commission Wednesday for a temporary increase in government flood control aid.

The increase was needed, Mr. Pharr said, because of delay in the payment of levee taxes in the district. Of $500,000 levied last year, he said, only $335,000 had been collected. This year the collections were a little ahead of last year, but aid was needed to enable the board to make better progress in levee work in its district, Mr. Pharr said.

Mr. Pharr appeared before the members of the commission at a hearing about the River Commission started Mississippi here Wednesday afternoon. The commission is en route to New Orleans on an inspection trip.

Mr. Pharr explained that payment of approximately $75,000 assessed against several railroads during the past three years was held up pending decision by the Arkansas Supreme Court of the plea of the railroads that the assessment against them was not equitable. A decision is expected about January 1. He also explained to the commission a situation at Bogalusa, La., where the board had guaranteed compensation to land owners whose land would be damaged by the construction of a levee, but a law was passed by last Arkansas legislature to empower the board to pay the land owners compensatory damages, he said, later it was declared unconstitutional.

B. Bearden, vice president; D. O. Silvey, secretary and Mrs. Dale Hunt, chairman of the program committee.

The association adopted as its general program the meeting of all requirements for the classification of their school.

It was decided that the organization would sponsor a box and pie supper for next Friday evening, November 6. Everyone has a special invitation to come and bring a box, pie, or full pocketbook. The funds are to be used to purchase shades for the building.

The Judges Propose . . .

THE Arkansas Association of County Judges met in Little Rock Wednesday and announced they would sponsor a constitutional amendment providing for the reorganization of county governments.

A reform is due in this direction—but it will be viewed with suspicion coming from a body of local politicians whose sole activity thus far has been to hi-jack the legislature into voting increased taxes so they might pay themselves larger salaries.

Thus, we formerly paid 5 cents a gallon tax on gasoline;
but the county judges' association made us pay 6 cents a gallon in 1931.

Thus, the county judge of Hempstead county formerly drew $1,800 a year salary; but on account of the county judges' association he now draws $3,000 a year.

Through their manipulations at Little Rock this select group of small-town lobbyists has managed to draw off nearly $1 million dollars a year from the state's road revenues for the purpose of local government.

Yet the original tax for local government remains the same. Indeed, this boosting of the gasoline tax by the county judges comes at a time when the State of Arkansas has just announced that the state tax rate will also be advanced, from 7.9 to 9.2 mills—the highest in the history of the state!

Here in Hempstead county, the county judge, who originally lifted $28,000 out of the revenue of the state highway department, draws $45,000 for 1931—and instead of relieving the public in other directions, the only effect of this additional local tax will be to increase the state general levy also!

The county judges, ever-anxious to get additional funds into their none-too-competent hands, have not only levied an additional local tax of 3 million dollars, but have paved the way for a general increase by the state.

They are reformers—these judges would have you believe. But don't believe them. State officials have cut their salaries 10 per cent, even as you and I—but did the judges cut their salaries? Not on your life. Did they reduce local tax assessments? Over in Phillips county one courageous set of county officials ordered a 25 per cent slash. Where else?

Yet these tax increases, these salary boosts, these burdensome assessments, continue at a time when private business and private citizens are operating on the slenderest of margins. Today the only justification of old-time salaries and old-time expense is increased service. The service that county governments have returned to the people has diminished rapidly the last two years. County activities have been curtailed in every direction. Yet the tax burden is larger, salaries are bigger—and the people are in that kind of a temper I would hate to be the man scheduled to read that "county reform report" when the lobbyists' association brings it in.

If Spain Starts Divorce

THE extent of the change that has come over Spain since the establishment of the republic is strikingly illustrated by the news that the National Assembly has put into the republic's proposed constitution a provision for divorce by mutual consent.

Under the monarchy, Spain law provided for no divorce at all. The new provision—provided that the law is accepted by the Spanish people—would make divorce almost as easy as it is in Russia. The contrast gives the measure of the change which the nation is undergoing.

Incidentally, if the law stands it may be that Spain will find herself getting a slice of the rich American divorce trade. In recent years the Paris divorce has been popular among rich and restless Americans. Will it, in the near future be replaced by the Madrid divorce?

Our Automobile Business

IT IS rather surprising to hear that the export trade has accounted for practically all of the increase in production of American autos since 1923. A survey conducted by a University of Michigan expert shows this to be the case, and indicates that the domestic market has not appreciably expanded in eight years.

"Production abroad by American companies," remarks the survey, "will do more to limit our future exports than competition from European producers."

The automobile business, thus seems to be pretty securely in American hands. Yet one is entitled to wonder just how much this will help the ordinary American worker if American factories located overseas are going to grab off part of the export trade. That is a point which the tariff engineers might ponder over a little.

Mail Contracts to Be Investigated

Post Office Department Says Ocean Air Mail Inquiry Will Be Welcomed

WASHINGTON—(P)—The administration of the $56,000,000 ocean and air mail funds and contracts is to be investigated by the House Appropriations Committee in December.

This announcement by Representative
Wood, chairman of the committee,
last session, was met by a Postoffice Department statement that the inquiry would be welcomed.

Wood said numerous complaints had been received from air and steamship line operators over the methods by which contracts had been awarded and were being handled.

Arch J. Coleman, acting postmaster general, said the administration of the air and ocean mail contracts had been based strictly on the enactments of Congress.

"If there is anything wrong with it," he added, "it is with the laws and not with the administration."

Last-year ocean mail appropriations amounted to $36,000,000, of which $7-000,000 was for foreign ocean airmail.
Under the recent enacted Waters act,
the domestic airmail subvention is $20,000,000 annually.

The Shipping Board certifies to the postmaster general lines entitled to seek ocean air mail contracts. Shipping Board commissioners, Postmaster General Brown and air and steamship line operators are to be called before the Appropriations Committee, Wood said.

Boy Who Killed Sister Not to Be Prosecuted

UTICA, N. Y.—(P)—Peter B. Santia, seven, who told police he shot and killed his three-year-old sister, Gloria,
because she soiled his spelling book, will not be prosecuted, District Attorney C. L. de Angelis said Sunday night.

Peter's age de Angelis said, made him immune from prosecution.

The lad told his mother, Mrs. Peter D. Santia, he took a gun from behind a door, loaded it with a shell he found on the table, pressed the muzzle against Gloria's chest, and pulled the trigger.

If they keep on perfecting those robots, about the only thing left for a man to do will be to make robots.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchitis, asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

The day the fish were biting Fortune smiled upon us all. The chap who'd never fished before Caught all that he could eat and more And scorned to take 'em small. ## Expect Hard Game Here Friday Night

North Little Rock Reported to Be in Splendid Condition

The Hope football team is looking forward to one of the hardest games on their schedule when they meet the North Little Rock Wildcats on the local field Friday night at 8 o'clock.

Several of the Hope regulars will be out of the lineup for this game. Drake will not play Friday, and it is hardly likely that Rowe will see much action on account of a bad knee.

Sisell will be out and his place will be filled by Moore or Berry. Chamberlain may not be in the game on account of the death of his grandfather.

Two former players who have not been in the last games have returned to the squad. They are Neal Bacon and Bert Mauldin. It is hardly likely that either will start the game but may be used as reserves.

Hope's best bet in this week's game seems to be Jack Turner, who has been showing up extremely well in practice this week. This boy, who is playing his first year as a regular, has plenty of speed as well as lots of drive and has the ability to follow his interference.

According to reports from North Little Rock the Wildcats are in good shape, three men who had been suspended from the squad for infractions of training rules for the past two weeks will be in the lineup Friday night. Only one man, Lamberson, a back, will be out on account of injuries.

Coach Blackburn is bringing approximately 22 men to Hope for this game.

Democrats Control

in congress in an off-year is prophetic of a change of administrations.

Berns Lead by Two
The lineup now is democrats 217; republicans 215; farmer-laborite one; vacancies two.

One vacancy, in the fifth New Jersey district, traditionally republican, is to be filled before congress convenes, but the other—in New Hampshire—will remain vacant until January.

The democrats in more ways than one are in a far better position to organize the house than the republicans. They can present a united front on their speaker candidate in Garner, as the veteran legislator has no opponent in his party.

On the contrary the republicans have been engaged in a quiet but terrific struggle over the selection of a speakership nominee to succeed the late Speaker Longworth. In addition, a group of independents is clamoring for more recognition and are using as a means to obtain it a threat of bolting the party on organization.

Like in the republican party, there are a number of democrats who fear that democratic house control in this congress would be a disadvantage in the 1932 presidential elections. On the other hand most of them feel they should accept the responsibility for enacting needed legislation, despite a hostile administration and the lack of a working majority needed to force through legislation.

Plans Carefully Mapped
The democrats have carefully prepared plans to end the republican control of 13 years standing. "They hope to obtain the vote of the lone farmer-laborite, Representative Kvale of Minnesota, and to ask two election contestants in the eighth Illinois district to stand aside when the house is organized."

In the contest, a recount of the ballots showed that Stanley H. Kunz, the only democrat apparently defeated for re-election, in the 1930 elections, actually had a majority over Peter C. Granata, republican.

Granata has a certificate of election, but the democrats can force him
